Introduction

Industree's "Producer Owned Women Enterprises" (POWER) program is designed to empower women artisans in rural India through the White House-led Women's Global Development and Prosperity (W-GDP) initiative, which seeks to economically empower over 50 million women in the developing world by 2025. The POWER project, in partnership with USAID, builds women-owned enterprises and connects them to national and international supply chains for natural and biodegradable fibre products. Producers in the proposed units receive tailored professional assistance to grow the skills and networks needed as employees and entrepreneurs.

POWER also addresses restrictive social norms to increase support for women as entrepreneurs. The project will run for three years and is a collaborative participation between civil society and the private sector. The POWER project seeks to impact 6,800 women producers directly in the natural fibre, bamboo, and biodegradable leaf tableware value chains through the establishment of three Producer Owned Companies across tribal/ forest belts in India- Odisha, Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Karnataka and Tamil Nadu, finally impacting 54,560 members of the community.
